

Edinburgh Doors Open Days 2019

Newington Cemetery

1.30-4.00pm Sunday 29th September

The theme of this year's Doors Open Day is global connections, and we are sharing the stories of people buried in the cemetery whose life and work took them across the world.

Newington Cemetery was opened in 1846, and covers 14 acres.

Not only the final resting place of many local families, it also provides a refuge for wildlife and a peaceful haven for visitors.

Please feel free to wander around, explore this year's themed graves, or ask one of our volunteers to point out some of the cemetery's interesting features.

In 2013, Grange Prestonfield Community council formed an interest group, Friends of Newington Cemetery, who are working with City of Edinburgh Council to restore and maintain this wonderful garden cemetery.
